PREFACE.

This work has taken a considerable part of my time for nearly ten years, and has been quite expensive in many ways. If a full year's time and the expenditure of two thousand dollars could have been given in addition for research in England, the complete English record of the family could have been secured, but I have not felt that I could afford either time or expense.

I started with the idea, simply, of tracing my own line of ancestry, but have found this pleasant work leading me into so many other different lines that as a record of the Hodgdon family in America it is more complete than was at first intended.

Thanks are due to Frederick M. Hodgdon of Haverhill, Mass., also to Fordyce C. B. Hodgdon of Key West, Fla., who have kindly offered to share in the expense of publication; also to Miss Almira L. White of Haverhill for the able and conscientious manner in which she has edited the book, and to all others who have kindly furnished information and pictures.

In the years of expansion of this country the Hodgdon family has had its share, and in the pursuit of industry and commerce has gone into many of the states of the union. Naturally the tracing of genealogical records has, therefore, met with some difficulties and the result is likely to fall short of being absolutely complete and perfect. The following record is, however, the result of careful and persistent inquiry, and no line has been left until satisfactory information has been secured, or the futility of further inquiry demonstrated. I trust that the book will meet with the approbation of the members of the Hodgdon family, that they may take pleasure in its reading, as I have in its preparation.

EXPLANATIONS.

In arranging this work it has been my object to give all the authentic history and genealogy of the first five generations of Nicholas Hodsdon and his descendants in the plainest manner. The work is carried forward in the usual form to the fifth generation, then we have only attempted to trace the families of Maj. Caleb and his brothers, Israel, Peter and John, and his sister, Abigail (Hodgdon) Peaslee.

We find the name variously spelled and have copied it in every instance as we found it, one brother using the s and the other the g.

The Arms of Hodsdon of Hodsdon, County Hertfordshire, England, were procured from Cullerton's Heraldic Office, London. They are inserted as the Arms of the family in England; although, for want of time and money, we have been unable to trace the English ancestry of Nicholas Hodsdon.

ARMS: Argent, a bend wavy gules, between two horse shoes azure.

CREST: A man's head couped at the shoulders proper, vested argent, on the head a cap or.

MOTTO: Animo et fide (By courage and faith).

I have made use of no unusual abbreviations, using those of months and states, also, b., born; bapt., baptized; m., married; d., died; p., page; vol., volume; dau., daughter. Each member is numbered at birth, and when the name is followed by + it will be found again in its proper place with the birth number in a bracket at the right of the name. If no + follows, all I could learn is recorded at the birth. The small superior figure at the end of each name denotes the generation.

GENEALOGY

HODSDON OR HODGDON FAMILY.

1. Nicholas Hodsdon of Hingham, Mass., 1635; and in 1636, the town of Hingham, granted him a house lot in the center of the town, and later, two or more meadows were granted him in the same town; reference is made to these meadows, in a deed given by Samuel Ward of Charlestown, Mass., to Edward Wilder, Mar. 30, 1665.

(Suffolk deeds, Vol. 4, p. 282.)

Nicholas was made freeman Mar. 9, 1636-7, (in the record the name is given as Hudson), he remained in Hingham until about 1650, when in company with John Winchester, Thomas Hammond, John Parker, Vincent Druce and others, he purchased large tracts of land at Cambridge Hill, now Newton, Mass., near the line which divides Brookline and Newton.

“Nicholas Hodsdin at Mr. Hibbins farme in Boston in Suffolk, hath souled to Thomas Hammond and Vincent Bruse (Druce) both of Hingham, in the same County, a parcell of land containing sixty seaven acres more or less, lying on Cambridge Hill adjoining to John Parker's to the North, Northwest and Northeast of the said John Parker's with thirteen acres more or less of meadow belonging thereunto, the which land was by the Towne of Cambridge given to Robert Bradish. Also sixteen acres in Boston bounds next to Cambridge Hill to the South of it, and to the East and North east of Mr. Hibbins' land, to have and to hold—— ” Dated, Feb. 4, 1650; recorded, Aug. 20, 1651.

Middlesex County deeds, Vol. I; p. 24.

“Nicholas Hodsdon of Boston to John Parker of Cambridge
—— a just third part of all the lands bought by him of Robert Bradish. Wife Elizabeth gives her consent and yields up her

Dated, Aug. 6, 16—; recorded, May 24, 1656.

Middlesex County deeds.

We find no deed or land grant between the above date and Oct.
15, 1656, when he received a grant of land from the town of Kittery, Me., but seems to have been living there prior to that date as see grant below.

“Granted, lotted and layed out by the Selectmen for Kittery unto Nicholas Hodsdon, his heirs and assigns forever, a lot of land above his house, bounded on the South side by Miles Thompson's land as may appear by several marked trees which go upon the line south east and by east unto the woods one hundred and sixty poles unto a tree marked four ways, and from said tree to go upon the line north and south and by east unto a marked tree Standing by the brook of Birchen Poynt and to come down the said brook unto the water or river, which brook is the bounds of said lot.”

Dated Oct. 15, 1656.

Kittery town records, p. 9.

Dec. 13, 1669, Nicholas received another grant of land from the town of Kittery, this lot being sixty poles in length, and adjoining Birchen Point Brook. This lot was laid out Jan. 1672.

In 1673, Nicholas received still another grant of land from the town, which was for 100 acres of land. This grant however was not laid out during his lifetime, but was sold by his descendants at various times.

The following deposition of Nicholas and his wife is of interest, and shows that at the time they settled at Kittery, they resided at Quamphagon :

“The deposition of Nicholasse Hodesden and his wife, aged 40 years and upwards. These deponents being sworne saith that fiteene or sixteene yeares agoe that Thomas Spenseer being at Quamphagon at the house wee lived in sayd, that he had given the one half part of the mill & timber thereunto belonging, being one quarter part of the mill unto Daniell Goodlin for his dafters portion. Nicholas Hodsdlen & his wife replied & said, neybouer Spenser I wish you well to consider what you doe. for you had many children & every one would have a littell and you cannot give every one such a Portion, and he answered & said, that she was the eldest dafter & hee had don yt & fartersaith not." Dated, Apr. 18, 1670.

Nicholas purchased several lots of land in the vicinity of Birchen Point Brook. Peter Wittum sold him "forty acres of upland and swamp, butting upon the land of said Nicholas, and running back to Rocky Hills."

John Wincoll sold Nicholas "one Tenement with about 30 acres of land, bounded by land of Miles Thompson on the South, the River on the West and Birchen Brook and Cove on the North and highway that leadeth toward Sturgeon Creeke."

Dated June 16, 1674.

The farm which Nicholas occupied the latter part of his life, is undoubtedly the one just mentioned as having been purchased of John Wincoll in 1674. It is situated upon the easterly side of the Piscataqua river, which divides Kittery from Dover. It is located in the extreme southerly part of South Berwick, and is bounded on the North by Birchen Point Brook; on the south by the farm formerly owned by Miles Thompson. This last mentioned farm was bounded on the south by Thompson's Brook, which Brook divides the towns of Eliot and South Berwick.

The homestead, as will be noticed later, was given by Nicholas to his son Benoni, from whom it descended in regular gradation to John and Henry Hodsdon; who sold it to Theo. F. and Thomas Jewett, May 17, 1828, (York deeds, Vol. 130, p. 82.) at which time the estate passed out of the Hodsdon family. The Jewetts sold the entire farm to William Flynn by deed of Jan. 28, 1850.

(York deeds, Vol. 210, p. 449.) and it is still occupied by the widow and children of Mr. Flynn.

"Agreement between Nicholas Hodsdon of Kittery, husbandman, and Benoni Hodsdon, son of said Nicholas, agrees that Benoni shall during the Natural life of Nicholas, have, hold and use in Partnership with his father, all that farm that his father has for several years lived upon, with all lands, medows, Orchards, Marshes, garden and all the privileges thereunto belonging or in any wise appertaining without any division of lands or houses, but in partnership and the same shall hold during the Natural life of said Nicholas.

It is agreed that all of the stock of any nature heretofore belonging to the said Nicholas or Benoni are to be one half the said Nicholas and the other half the said Benoni.

The said Benoni agrees to take the best of care of the farm and pay all charges and any profit arising from the product of the farm to be equally divided every year.

It is agreed after the death of Nicholas the goods and implements of the farm shall belong to Benoni."

Dated, Dec. 9, 1678.

York deeds, Vol. 3, p. 41.

"Nicholas Hodgsden of Kittery for £130 sells his son Benoni, all that my mansion or dwelling house and all barnes and edifices. All of which I heretofore purchased of John Wincoll, containing 40 acres. Also 56 acres of land long since Granted unto me by the town of Kittery; Bounded by the great River Pischataqua, or at least a branch thereof on the West, and with a fresh brook on ye North, which brooke devides between my lands and one Left. Playstead's land, late deceased. And on ye East with certain marked trees, and on the South with land of Miles Thompson. ———except about seven acres given John Morrell and his wife Sarah.

Benoni to provide for Nicholas and his wife Elizabeth. Benoni to pay her £6 yearly during her natural life."

Dated, Oct. 22, 1678.

York deeds, Vol. 3, p. 31.

The seven acres given to John Morrell and his wife Sarah, were deeded them by Nicholas and his wife Elizabeth, Dec. 3, 1671. The lot was situated in the northeast corner of the homestead, and was bounded on the north by Birchen Point Brook. After being owned by various parties, the lot was purchased by Benoni Hodsdon in 1703, when the entire homestead was once more owned by one of the Hodsdon family, where it remained for the succeeding 125 years.

Nicholas Hodsdon m. about 1639, Esther Wines, a cousin of Faintnot Wines of Charlestown, as proved by the following:

Faintnot Wines, Flaxdresser, inhabitant of Charlestown, Mass., 1635, with wife Bridget. He d. Feb. 25, 1664, will dated Sept. 1, 1663, proved June 20, 1665. Devised legacies to five of Nicholas Hodgdon's children by his cousin Esther Wines. Wife Esther d. in Hingham, Mass., Nov. 29, 1647, and he m. (2) between May 25, 1648, and Oct. 2, 1650, Elizabeth, widow of John Needham, as proved by the following, from Aspinwall Notarial Records:

"25. 3. 1648, I did testifie unto a Lee of the Attorney made from Eliz. Needham to John Scarlet to receive all such goods as were due or belonging to her husband in Virginia. She being credibly informed of his death." p. 128.

"2. 8. 1650, Nicholas Hodsdon and Eliz. his wife (formerly wife of John Needham) did make ordeine &c: Peter Brackett of Braintre in N. E., their true & lawful Attorney to ask &c: of Capt. Varvell or any other in whose hands maybe certaine goods of her former husband John Needham, shipped aboard the shipp of the said Capt. Varvell to carry to Virginia, & of the receipt to give acquittance &c: also to compound &c: & to appear in any Court or Courts &c: & generally to doe all things &c: with power to substitute &c: ratifying &c:" p. 324.

The place and date of death of Nicholas and Elizabeth is unknown. They were probably buried in the graveyard which was laid out on a portion of the homestead, to which reference is made in the deed given May 17, 1828. "Reserving and excepting from this conveyance one eighth of an acre on the homestead first above mentioned, which has been heretofore used as a place of burial by our ancestors." Children :

The last mention we find of Israel Hodsdon is the following: "Miles Thompson and wife, James Heard and wife, Nicholas Hodsdlin and wife, Thomas Spencer and wife, William Furbush and wife, Israel Hodsdon and wife and Richard Nason and wife were presented for not attending meeting."

Jul. 6, 1675.

York county Court records.

It would look as though Israel Hodsdon and his father as well as some of their neighbors favored the Quakers, who were not popular at that time, for we find Nov. 12, 1659, in company with John Heard of Kittery, Nicholas was ordered to appear at the second session of the General Court, to be held at Boston, and answer to the charge of entertaining Quakers. To this Nicholas plead not guilty, but it was ordered that he be admonished by the Governor.

We do not find the date of Israel Hodsdon's death, but his widow m. (2) about 1675-6, Robert Evans of Dover, N. H. The estate of Israel Hodsdon was not settled until after his only son, Israel Jr., came of age, as shown by the following:

"Administration is granted to Israel Hodsdon of the estate of his deceased father Israel Hodsdon, late of Kittery, in ye County of Yorke, and the said Israel Hodsdon, as principal, Bartholomew Thompson and Thomas Thompson as sureties, own themselves to be holden and firmly obliged unto Samuel Wheelwright, Esq., his Successors in ye office of Judge of Probate, within the County of York, in the sum of seventy pounds. ISRAEL Hodgdon, Jr. (98), b. in Dover, N. H., Mar. 25, 1697; m. in Dover, Aug. 9, 1725, Hannah, dau. of John and Elizabeth (Meader) Hanson, b. in Dover, Jan. 11, 1705; they lived in Dover, where she d. Jan. 1, 1737-8. He m.(2) in Dover, Sept. 21, 1738, Mary, dau. of Edmund and Abigail (Green) Johnson of Hampton, N. H., b. Nov. 3, 1707.

We find the following in the "Historical Memoranda Concerning Persons and Places in old Dover, N.H." "John Hanson was a son of Thomas Hanson, and grandson of Thomas, sen., who 'tooke the oath of fidelitie' at Dover June 4, 1661. John lived at Nock's Marsh on the place where Samuel Hanson now lives. Being a Friend, he refused to leave his exposed position, and his house was marked for an attack. Thirteen Indians and French Mohawks, lay for several days near it in ambush, waiting until Hanson and his men were away, for the Indians were a cowardly set of villains; and when he had gone to the week-day meeting and two sons were at work at some distance, the Indians entered the house; Mrs. Hanson, a servant, and four children were in the house, of which, one child the Indians immediately killed to terrify the others; two other children were at play in the orchard, and would have escaped but that just as the Indians had finished rifling the house, the two came in sight and made such a noise that the Indians killed the youngest boy to stop an alarm, with Mrs. Hanson, her babe of two weeks, a boy of six years and two daughters, one fourteen years old, the other sixteen, and the servant girl. All reached Canada, but the party was repeatedly subdivided during the journey.

The first person who discovered the tragedy was Hanson's oldest daughter (afterward Mrs. Hodgdon) on her return from meeting. Seeing the children dead she gave a shriek which was distinctly heard by her mother in the hands of the enemy and by her brothers at work. Pursuit was instantly made but the Indians avoided all paths and escaped undiscovered. After this disaster Hanson removed the remainder of his family to the house of his brother 'who, says Belknap' though of the same religious persuasion yet had a number of lusty sons and always kept his fire-arms in good order for the purpose of shooting game."

Mr. Hanson soon after the attack went to Canada to ransom his family; the following item from the News-Letter of 1725 is of interest in that connection:

"Newport. Aug. 27, (1725) On Tuesday last (Aug. 24) arrived here Mr. John Hanson, Dover, Piscataqua, and about a Month's time from Canade, but last from New York, with his wife & three children and a Servant Woman, as also one Ebenezer Downs, having a wife & five children at Piscataqua; also one Miles Thompson, a Boy, who were all taken Captives about Twelve Months since, by the Enemy Indians, and carried to Canada, except Mr. Hanson; who at the same time lost Two of his sons by the Indians; & now it hath cost him about £700 for their Ransom, including his other necessary charges. He likewise informs, That another of his children, a Young Woman of about Seventeen Years of Age was carried Captive at the same time with the rest of his Family, with whom he conversed for several Hours, but could not obtain her Ransom; for the Indians would not consent to part with her on any terms, so he was obliged to leave her.

Mr. Hanson got home 1 Sept. 1725, but he could not content himself while his daughter Sarah was in Canada; and about the 19th of April, 1727, started in company with a kinsman who with his wife was bound on a similarly sad errand to redeem children; but he was taken sick on the journey and died about half way between Albany and Canada. The daughter married a Frenchman and never returned."

Mr. Hodgdon was taxed in Dover in 1741, at which time he was called an Ensign. In the several deeds given by him, he is called a housewright, as well as a yeoman. He probably followed both vocations.

was left off from his name), for £374, old tenor, sold Joseph Wentworth of Somersworth 25 acres of land, laid out above Great Falls, bounded by the river.

Jul. 2, 1765, Israel sold his son Peter Hodgdon, certain land at Nottingham, containing 93 acres, adjoining town of Barrington.

Sept. 24, 1777, he sold the homestead to his son Caleb for £500, giving a deed of the farm purchased of Benjamin Page, with this addition:

m. (1) Dec. 11, 1766, Mary, dau. of Azariah and Bridget (Bushbie) Booley, b. in Madbury, N. H., June 23, 1749; she was twin sister of Capt. John Booley. They lived in Nottingham, N. H., where Mary d., Oct. 30, 1770; he m. (2) July 9, 1772, Patience Chase, b. in Kensington, N. H., June 26, 1750. We quote the following from the pen of his nephew, Robert Booley Caverly, the lawyer, poet, and author of the Caverly and Booley Genealogies:—

“Uncle Peter was a nervous, marvellous old gentleman. When a lad I saw him once, but can just remember his outlines. His dear Molly had gone beyond the river;—we had never seen her. He always travelled horse back on his old nag, fleet as the wind. Time then had in its toil and trial appeared to hang heavily upon him. His aged face had been seamed all over with its cares, his voice appeared cracked and broken, and his wintry locks lay loosely upon his shoulders. We can just remember how his veiny hand trembled as he sat at our mother’s table feeding himself. We remember he spoke of his infirmities as painful to him, saying he used at home a wooden plate, with which to steady his fork. But, oh! it would have been music to you to see the old hero come and go.”

“Tradition in and about Madbury, among other things, says old Peter’s horse, old Bright (by that name he called him), was a wonder among men and colts. The common highway was no sort of guide to old Bright; his end and aim was always onward through the shortest way in the shortest time. Once given the point of compass, Bright needed no other direction; his course was always in a direct line, straight forward through quagmires, over hedges, fences, brooks, walls and ditches. As the venerable charger leaped up and down, old Peter would occasionally be seen in the distance, leaning towards his journey’s end, both hands fastened to the mane, his long gray locks tossed by the tempest, and the skirts of his garments at an angle of forty-five degrees, carried back and fluttered by the breeze.”

After his first marriage Peter lived in Nottingham, then in Kensington, and in 1778 in Wolfboro, N. H., then in Dover until 1790, when he settled in Madbury, where he d. Apr. 19, 1827.

JOHN Hodgdon⁵ (361), b. in Dover, N.H., Apr. 22, 1745, m. Jan. 22, 1772, Susannah, dau. of Joseph and Elizabeth (Tibbetts) Hussey, b. in Dover, Jan. 28, 1750. From his childhood he was fond of reading, and in one way and another he managed to acquire an excellent practical education, though he attended school but seven days. He drew up all his contracts, deeds, bonds, and obligations of every description; was a good land surveyor, made neat plans of his work, and computed the contents by triangulation. One of the few amusements of his busy life was the solution of problems in "Thomas' Farmer's Almanac" and in the newspapers of that early day. On the 18th of November, 1771, he purchased of Joshua Corliss, for the sum of £217, 16s., the nucleus of the farm at Weare, on which he lived and died. A log house then stood on the premises, but he at once erected a small frame house (about 20 x 12 feet, still standing), which soon gave place to the substantial house now (1888) occupied by his grandson, Moses A. Hodgdon.

John Hodgdon had the usual experience, with rather more than the ordinary success, that attends pioneer life. Forests gradually disappeared, barns were built, orchards planted; and by industry and economy, field was added to field, pasture to pasture, until the "Hodgdon farm" became one of the most noted in the country. He also owned land in Hillsborough, Antrim, Unity, New Boston, Fishersfield and many other towns. In 1799 he purchased of the "Westford & Groton Academy Grant" a large tract of land in the eastern part of Maine, on which the town of Hodgdon now stands. In company with others, he purchased unsold lands in an old grant called the "Packer Right," which involved him in much litigation. In conducting his numerous lawsuits, he manifested so much skill and ability, that the late Judge Jeremiah Smith once said: "I would rather have John Hodgdon associated with me in a land-suit than any lawyer of the New Hampshire bar." Gov. Samuel Bell, with whom John Hodgdon was associated in real estate transactions, notably one purchase of 31,600 acres in Grafton County, once made a similar statement. Judge Smith and Governor Bell were his council until they were severally raised to the Bench. To a grandson of John Hodgdon, Judge Levi Woodbury once said: "My first case was a land-suit, in which John Hodgdon was plaintiff, and much curiosity was manifested at the bar to see who would be the successor of Smith & Bell. The case was well prepared, and the jury gave me a verdict. This case was a great advantage to me, and from that time I had an established reputation, that gave me a very large docket." Many anecdotes are related in which John Hodgdon's ready sarcasm was very effective. On one occasion when he drove up to the court house at Amherst, where a crowd had assembled, a youthful aspirant to legal honors called out in a patronizing tone, "Well, Mr. Hodgdon, so you've come again!" "Yes," he replied, "but if I had no more business here than thee has, I shouldn't come." "We must look out for Mr. Hodgdon's sharp tongue," was a common phrase among the lawyers. Aside from his larger real estate transactions, Mr. Hodgdon bought and stocked many farms for others to cultivate, and was one of the founders of a factory at Hillsborough Bridge, which at one period he carried on alone. He interested himself in improving stock of all kinds. In 1812, he purchased, and brought from Exeter, in his chaise, a Merino buck; about the same time, he bought, on the Connecticut river, a Merino ewe, for which he paid $125, and ten half breed lambs for $300. John Hodgdon was a man of large and powerful frame, about six feet one inch in height; thin but muscular, usually weighing about 212 pounds. In politics he was an openly avowed Federalist, looking more at national than local interests. He had an abiding faith in the simplicity of Christianity as taught by the society of Friends, and was a constant student of its distinctively doctrinal works. He was a man of clear, vigorous intellect, sternly upright, always knew his own mind, and had little patience with indecision and inefficiency. He had an inexhaustible fund of anecdote, was quick in repartee and rhyme, as well as prose; pitiless in his satire against meanness and pretence, but kindly and genial. He died Jan. 15, 1821; Susannah, his wife, died Dec. 6, 1841. Children:

MOSES Hodgdon⁶ (1290), b. in Weare, N.H., Aug. 22, 1773; he received a common school education, was brought up a farmer, and inherited his father's farm. He was a man of splendid physique, six feet four inches in height, and would weigh two hundred and fifty pounds.

He was very energetic and took the lead in all his farming operations. In 1882 Hon. John Hodgdon, his son, said of him, "He was the best farmer I ever saw; with him it was always 'Come boys' and everyone readily responded to his call; his energy was contagious." Mr. Hodgdon like his father was a member of the Society of Friends; tolerant and liberal minded, generous and sympathetic in deed, but chary in words. He was a man of large property, partly inherited from his father, and much increased by himself. He was the largest stockholder in Concord bank and had much to do with its affairs. He m. ABIGAIL Hodgdon⁶ (1291), b. in Weare, N. H., Aug. 7, 1778; m. in 1799, Daniel, son of Zephaniah and Ruth (Phillips) Breed, b. in Lynn, Mass., Apr. 9, 1769. She was his second wife, and d. in Weare, Apr. 11, 1802.

Hon. JOHN Hodgdon⁷ (1292), b. in Weare, N. H., Oct. 8,

1800; he inherited the sterling integrity of his father, with the executive ability and many personal traits of his grandfather. He received his preparatory education at the district school in Weare, Gilmanton Academy and Phillips' Academy in Exeter, N. H., entered Bowdoin College in 1823 and graduated with distinguished honors in 1827. He studied law in the office of Allen Gilman of Bangor, Me., and was admitted to the bar in 1830. On the death of his grandfather, in 1821, Mr. Hodgdon came into possession of a large tract of land in Maine, and the conditions of ownership demanded immediate attention; he therefore left his studies at Exeter, and, following the water courses and the paths of trappers and Indians, soon reached his grant in northeastern Maine. He at once organized a surveying party from the neighboring province of New Brunswick, laid out his land into lots, secured settlers to establish his claim, and thus founded the town which afterwards bore his name. In 1832, he was a delegate from Maine to the Democratic National Convention, held in Baltimore, which nominated Andrew Jackson for the presidency. In 1833, he was a member of the Governor's council; and, through the influence of the Maine delegation in Washington, he succeeded in establishing a military post at Houlton, Me., and took an active and efficient part in the disputed boundary question which led to the Aroostook war, a controversy finally settled in 1842, by the famous Ashburton treaty. Mr. Hodgdon held the office of State land agent four years, and that of bank examiner and commissioner six years. He was appointed by President Polk commissioner on the part of the State of Maine to confer with a like commission from Massachusetts to settle and distribute the territorial funds. In 1846, he was elected to the State senate, and the following year was president of that body. He was at one time general of a division of the State militia, hence the title of general, by which he was better known the latter part of his life. In 1853, he removed from Maine to Dubuque, Iowa, where he was regarded from the first as a leading and influential man. In 1858, he was elected mayor, and in subsequent years filled many positions of trust. He was senior warden of the Episcopal church as long as he would consent to an election, and was many times delegate to the national church convention. Gen. Hodgdon was a thorough partisan, but never narrow or petty, and bestowed his quiet sarcasm on political folly wherever it appeared. He was a typical gentleman of the old school, conservative in his tastes, stately in his bearing, somewhat formal in his conversation, but a delightful talker, original and always entertaining. In a memorial notice of Gen. Hodgdon, he is spoken of as "the noblest Roman of them all," and it is but just to say that his manners, his learning, his character, marked the gentleman, the scholar and the Christian. Gen. Hodgdon married, in 1838, Margaret Amelia Leggett of New York; they had no children, but adopted a little girl who became the pride and comfort of their lives. He died at Dubuque, Aug. 27, 1883.

He was one of the most successful farmers in town, for many years extensively engaged in the wood and lumber business in Weare, Derry and Windham, N. H., owned many lumber mills, and at one time 6,000 acres of land and also had a half interest in Weare woolen mills. He was a member of the republican party from its formation, represented the town in the legislature in 1861-2 and was one of the executive council in 1868-9. A natural leader, he ranked foremost in each of these positions. To the integrity of his ancestors, generous impulses and sympathies are added in Mr. Hodgdon's nature, and he has ever been a prompt and efficient aid in cases of misfortune. For years he was a willing helper in building up the anti-slavery sentiment of his native town; and he has always been a member of the Society of Friends. He m. ABIGAIL Hodgdon⁸ (362), b. in Dover, N. H., Apr. 8, 1749; m. in 1780, Ebenezer, son of Moses and Mary (Gove) Peaslee. Mr. Peaslee settled in Weare, N. H., in 1772, with neither money nor education to aid him; he was constable and collector for many years; often on important town committees; became a large owner of real estate and the most extensive farmer in town.

He ran a store, hotel, saw and grist-mill, and was a large employer of other men; but never kept any written accounts or made any mistakes in his settlements. Always careful of his promises, but prompt to fulfill them, he was just as ready to compel others to fulfill theirs. Imagine a tall, broad-shouldered, coarse-featured man, riding on a spirited horse, seldom sitting in his saddle, but standing in the stirrups, invariably riding on the gallop and leaning forward as he rode; wearing a broad-brimmed Quaker hat, turned up in front; hail fellow, well met with everyone, and you have a correct picture of Ebenezer Peaslee.
